CERTIFICATE OF MAILING OR TRANSMISSION [37 CFR § 1.8(a)]
I hereby certify that this correspondence is being:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> transmitted to United States Patent and Trademark Office on the date shown below via the Office electronic filing system.
July 8, 2011	/Susan P. Gumatz/
Date	Signed by: Susan P. Gumatz

Dear Sir:

The above-identified application became abandoned for failure to file a timely and proper reply to a notice or action by the United States Patent and Trademark Office. The date of abandonment is the day after the expiration date of the period set for reply in the Office Notice or Action (March 1, 2011), plus any extensions of time actually obtained.

Fees

- ☒ Any required fee will be made at the time of submission via EFS-Web. In the event fees are not or cannot be paid at the time of EFS-Web submission, please charge any fees under 37 CFR § 1.17 which may be required to Deposit Account No. 13-3723.
- ☒ Please charge any additional fees associated with the prosecution of this application to Deposit Account No. 13-3723. This authorization includes the fee for any necessary extension of time under 37 CFR § 1.136(a). To the extent any such extension should become necessary, it is hereby requested.
- ☒ Please credit any overpayment to the same deposit account.

Applicants hereby petition for the withdrawal of the holding of abandonment in the subject application. The Notice of Abandonment was transmitted by the Patent Office on April 26, 2011, citing Applicants' failure to submit a response to a non-final Office Action dated September 1, 2010. The Notice of Abandonment (Exhibit "A") was sent electronically to Cantor Colburn LLP, which previously held Power of Attorney. However, a change in Power of Attorney was submitted with the Request for Continued Examination submitted to the Patent Office on August 16, 2010 (as shown in PAIR), along with a submission under 37 CFR 3.73(b) showing a change of assignment to 3M Innovative Properties Company (3M IPC).

Nevertheless, Assignee 3M IPC or its attorneys of record did not receive email notification that an Office Action (Exhibit "B") was available on PAIR, nor did 3M IPC or its attorneys of record receive a paper copy of the Office Action via the U.S. Mail. Accordingly, the due date for submitting a response to the Office Action in this application was never placed on the Applicants' attorney's docket and no response to the Office Action could have been filed by Applicants.

Applicant's attorney attests to the fact that on August 16, 2010 a Request for Continued Examination (RCE), Amendment and Response, Request for Extension of Time, and Statement under 37 CFR § 3.73(b) and Power of Attorney to Prosecute Applications before the USPTO were filed via EFS-web (Exhibit "C"). This filing was processed by the Examiner as evidenced by the issuance of a non-final Office Action on September 1, 2010 (Exhibit "B"). However, the Office Action was communicated to the previous correspondence address instead of the correspondence address identified in the Power of Attorney.

A copy of the docket record for the subject application (Exhibit "D") is enclosed together with a master docket (Exhibit E) covering the relevant time period. Yellow highlighting has been added to the docket record to indicate that the docket entry was created on May 25, 2011 following our receipt of Exhibit A and after the final due date for the response.

In view of the above, and further in view of 37 C.F.R. §1.111 which indicates that Applicant will be notified of an Office Action and given a period of three months, extendable up to six months, in which to reply, Applicants respectfully requests that the holding of abandonment be withdrawn and that the Office Action be reissued.

We believe that no fee is due however in the event a fee is due you are authorized to charge Deposit Account No. 13-3723. Copies of Exhibits A-E are enclosed.

Since this utility application was filed on or after June 8, 1995, no Terminal disclaimer is required.

Respectfully submitted,

July 8, 2011

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 16, 2010, has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-5, 7-9, 11, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1-5, 7-9, 11, and 13, claims 1 and 11 recite that the bi-component fibers have an average length of approximately 3 mm and that the bi-component fibers have a length of approximately 3 mm. It is unclear what the scope of "approximately" necessarily entails, as the limitation is qualitative and subjective without further guidance in Applicant's specification as to the scope of the limitation. Additionally, based on Applicant's remarks of August 16, 2010, Applicant argues that "longer than 4 mm" is necessarily not within the scope of "approximately 3 mm," even though "longer than 4 mm" clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm. The burden is on Applicant to set forth where in Applicant's specification lengths "longer than 4 mm" is clearly contemplated as not commensurate in scope with the claimed limitation.

Art Unit: 1786

Claim 7 recites the limitation "said fibre board material." Claim 7 is dependent from claim 1, which does not recite a fibreboard material. Therefore, there is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USPN 5,642,601 to Thompson Jr., in view of USPN 5,516,580 to Frenette and USPN 4,118,531 to Hauser.

Regarding claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13, Thompson Jr. teaches a fiber insulation material comprising primary fiber components of a portion of 75% cellulose fibers, a portion of 15% synthetic fibers being crimped fibers, and a portion of 10% bi-component fibers comprising a core and an outer sheathing, the outer sheathing having a lower melting point than the core (Thompson Jr., column 1 line 5 to column 2 line 67, column 15 lines 40-56; additionally, see for example column 6 lines 5-13, column 8 line 38 to column 9 line 6, column 9 line 63 to column 10 line 11, column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24). It should be noted that the springy fibers of Thompson Jr. are within the scope of the crimped and helically shaped crimped fibers, as the recitation of "springy" suggests that the fibers are coil-shaped and crimped in order to have stiffness and resilience to provide increased bulk or loft.

Thompson Jr. does not appear to specifically teach the length of the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers, the weight of the resulting material, and the length of the crimped fibers.

Regarding the claimed length of the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers and the weight of the resulting material, since the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers necessarily comprise fiber lengths and the resulting material necessarily comprises a weight, and since Thompson Jr. is silent as to each of the fiber lengths and material weight, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fiber lengths and material weights.

Frenette provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the insulation material art to form an insulating material comprising cellulosic fibers and synthetic bicomponent fibers, wherein the cellulosic fibers have a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm, the bicomponent fibers have a length longer than 4 mm, and wherein the resulting material has a density of 2 lb/cu.ft. or 1.5 lb./cu.ft. (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6). The lower range of "longer than 4 mm" clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulation art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., with the cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths, such as about 1 to 4 mm and longer than about 4 mm, and material weight, as taught by Frenette, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with bicomponent fiber lengths and a material weight known in the insulation art to be predictably suitable in forming fire retardant fiber insulation materials.

Additionally, as set forth above, it is unclear what the scope of “approximately 3 mm” necessarily entails. It is Examiner's position that “longer than 4 mm” clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm, which, absent to the contrary, appear to be within the scope of the claimed invention, as it would have been obvious to form bicomponent fibers having a length such as about 4 mm, based on the desired strength of the composition and the desired level of bonding, as shorter bicomponent fibers would predictably result in more bond points between the fibers since shorter fibers are easier to disperse and provide more flexibility than longer fibers. Fibers of slightly longer than 4 mm would give an average length of slightly greater than 4 mm. Applicants claim an average length of approximately 3 mm. The term “approximately” gives additional breath to the 3 mm, and it is the position of Examiner that given the wide range of length possible, a value of 4 mm is approximately 3 mm.

Regarding the claimed length of the crimped fibers, since the crimped fibers necessarily comprise fiber lengths, and since Thompson Jr. is silent as to the fiber length, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fiber lengths.

Hauser provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the fiber insulation material art to form a fiber insulation material comprising synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers having a length between about 2 and 15 centimeters (Hauser, column 1 lines 11-32, column 2 lines 3-21, column 3 lines 31-68, column 5 lines 31-47, column 6 lines 35-59, column 7 lines 27-60). Hauser teaches that forming a web with such fibers adds resiliency, loft and compression resistance to the web. Similarly, Thompson Jr. teaches that the springy synthetic polyester fibers are resilient and provide bulk or loft to the insulation material (Thompson Jr., column 15 lines 30-36).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the springy polyester fibers are the synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers having a length between about 2 and 15 centimeters, as taught by Hauser, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with synthetic polyester fibers known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably improve the resiliency, loft and compression resistance of the fiber insulation material. It should be noted that in the case where the claimed ranges overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art, a prima facie case of obviousness exists. In re Wertheim, 541 F.2d 257, 191 USPQ 90 (CCPA 1976); In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 16 USPQ2d 1934 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Regarding claim 2, Thompson Jr. teaches that the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical (Thompson Jr., column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24). It should be noted that Thompson Jr. teaches the benefits of applying fire retardant chemical to the resulting material when additional penetration of the liquid fire retardant chemical is needed. Therefore, the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical.

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulating material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical, as Thompson Jr. suggests that additional fire resistance may be imparted to the fibers constituting the insulating material by adding liquid fire retardant chemical to the insulating material, and motivated by the desire of forming a conventional insulating material having the desired fire resistance suitable for the intended application, as providing the synthetic fibers with fire retardant chemical additionally predictably increases the fire resistance of the resulting insulating material.

Regarding claim 3, Thompson Jr. teaches that the cellulose fibers are saturated with the fire-retarding chemical (Thompson Jr., column 9 line 63 to column 10 line 11, column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24).

Regarding claims 4 and 13, Thompson Jr. does not appear to teach that the content of the fire-retarding chemical is between 1 and 30% of the total fiber material composition and that the fire-retarding chemical comprises at least one of Borax, Boric acid, Ammonium sulphate and aluminum sulphate mixed with the synthetic fibers. However, Thompson Jr. teaches that any suitable fire retardant chemical can be applied, for example, a boron composition (Thompson Jr., column 8 line 37 to column 9 line 6). Since Thompson Jr. is silent as to the specific fire retarding chemical and the amount of chemical that is applied, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fire retardant chemicals and amounts.

Frenette provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the insulation material art to form an insulating material comprising cellulosic fibers and synthetic fibers, wherein a fire retardant chemical such as borax, boric acid, ammonium sulphate or aluminum sulfate is typically added at 10 to 30% (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulation art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., with the fire retardant chemical and in the amounts, as taught by Frenette, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with fire retardant chemicals and in amounts known in the insulation art to be predictably suitable in forming fire retardant fiber insulation materials.

Regarding claim 5, Frenette teaches that the cellulose fibers having a length between about 1 mm to about 4 mm (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

Regarding claim 7, Frenette teaches that the fiber board material is manufactured with a grammar weight of 2 lb/cu.ft. or 1.5 lb./cu.ft. (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

Additionally, it should be noted that a fiber board material is not positively claimed, as the claimed invention is directed to a fiber insulation material, and the claimed fiber insulation material is not required to have the claimed grammar weight. The claim only appears to require that when the fiber insulation is used to manufacture of a fiberboard material, the grammar weight will comprise the claimed grammar weight. Therefore, the claimed limitation is interpreted as an intended use limitation. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. Since the prior art combination teaches a substantially similar structure and composition (a fiber insulation material comprising the claimed cellulose fibers, crimped fibers and bicomponent fibers, each of the fibers having the claimed lengths and each of the fibers present in the claimed amounts) as the claimed invention, the prior art combination appears capable of performing the claimed use.

Regarding claim 9, Hauser teaches that the crimped synthetic fibers are helically shaped (Hauser, column 1 lines 11-32, column 2 lines 3-21, column 3 lines 31-68, column 5 lines 31-47, column 6 lines 35-59, column 7 lines 27-60).

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the springy polyester fibers are the synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers, as taught by Hauser, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with synthetic polyester fibers known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably improve the resiliency, loft and compression resistance of the fiber insulation material.

Regarding claim 11, Frenette teaches that the bicomponent fibers have a length of longer than 4 mm (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6). It should be noted that Applicants' specification does not quantitatively and/or objectively define the scope of "approximately." Absent evidence to the contrary that the fiber length of the Frenette is necessarily outside the scope of the claimed fiber length, the fiber length of Frenette appears to be within the scope of the claimed invention, as it would have been obvious to form bicomponent fibers having a length such as about 4 mm, based on the desired strength of the composition and the desired level of bonding, as shorter bicomponent fibers would predictably result in more bond points between the fibers.

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulating material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., further varying the fiber lengths such that the fiber lengths are approximately 3 mm, as it is within the level of ordinary skill to determine a suitable fiber length based on the desired fiber process used and the desired level of bonding and structural integrity suitable for the intended application.

Regarding claim 13, the prior art combination teaches that the fire-retarding chemical comprises borax, boric acid, ammonium sulphate or aluminum sulfate mixed with the synthetic fibers (Thompson Jr., column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24; Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

6. Claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USPN 5,642,601 to Thompson Jr., in view of USPN 5,167,764 to Nielsen and USPN 4,118,531 to Hauser.

Regarding claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13, Thompson Jr. teaches a fiber insulation material comprising primary fiber components of a portion of 75% cellulose fibers, a portion of 15% synthetic fibers being crimped fibers, and a portion of 10% bi-component fibers comprising a core and an outer sheathing, the outer sheathing having a lower melting point than the core (Thompson Jr., column 1 line 5 to column 2 line 67, column 15 lines 40-56; additionally, see for example column 6 lines 5-13, column 8 line 38 to column 9 line 6, column 9 line 63 to column 10 line 11, column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24). It should be noted that the springy fibers of Thompson Jr. are within the scope of the crimped and helically shaped crimped fibers, as the recitation of "springy" suggests that the fibers are coil-shaped and crimped in order to have stiffness and resilience to provide increased bulk or loft.

Art Unit: 1786

Thompson Jr. does not appear to specifically teach the length of the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers, and the length of the crimped fibers.

Regarding the claimed length of the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers and the weight of the resulting material, since the cellulose fibers and the bi-component fibers necessarily comprise fiber lengths and the resulting material necessarily comprises a weight, and since the prior art is silent as to each of the fiber lengths and material weight, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fiber lengths and material weights.

Nielsen provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the nonwoven art to form a bonded fibrous web material comprising cellulose fibers and bicomponent fibers, wherein the cellulose fibers have a length from about 1/8 inch to about 1/2 inch (which is equivalent to about 3.175 mm to about 6.35 mm), and the bicomponent fibers have a length from about 1 mm to about 75 mm (Nielsen, column 1 line 9 to column 4 line 68, column 5 lines 35-61, column 9 lines 51-53). Nielsen teaches that the bonded fibrous web material had increased bond strength, greater web uniformity, superior breaking strength and elongation properties (Id., column 1 lines 9-16, column 9 lines 51-53).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the nonwoven art at the time the invention was made to form the bonded fibrous web material of Thompson Jr., with the cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths, such as about 1 to 10 mm and approximately 3 mm, as taught by Nielsen, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional bonded fibrous web material with cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths known in the art as being predictably suitable in forming bonded fibrous web materials having increased bond strength, greater web uniformity, superior breaking strength and elongation properties.

Additionally, as set forth above, it is unclear what the scope of “approximately 3 mm” necessarily entails. It should be noted that in the case where the claimed ranges overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art, a prima facie case of obviousness exists. In re Wertheim, 541 F.2d 257, 191 USPQ 90 (CCPA 1976); In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 16 USPQ2d 1934 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulating material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., further varying the bicomponent fiber lengths such that the fiber lengths are approximately 3 mm, as it is within the level of ordinary skill to determine a suitable fiber length based on the desired fiber process used and the desired level of bonding and structural integrity suitable for the intended application.

Regarding the claimed length of the crimped fibers, since the crimped fibers necessarily comprise fiber lengths, and since the prior art is silent as to the fiber length, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fiber lengths.

Hauser provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the fiber insulation material art to form a fiber insulation material comprising synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers having a length between about 2 and 15 centimeters (Hauser, column 1 lines 11-32, column 2 lines 3-21, column 3 lines 31-68, column 5 lines 31-47, column 6 lines 35-59, column 7 lines 27-60). Hauser teaches that forming a web with such fibers adds resiliency, loft and compression resistance to the web. Similarly, Thompson Jr. teaches that the springy synthetic polyester fibers are resilient and provide bulk or loft to the insulation material (Thompson Jr., column 15 lines 30-36).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the springy polyester fibers are the synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers having a length between about 2 and 15 centimeters, as taught by Hauser, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with synthetic polyester fibers known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably improve the resiliency, loft and compression resistance of the fiber insulation material. It should be noted that in the case where the claimed ranges overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art, a prima facie case of obviousness exists. In re Wertheim, 541 F.2d 257, 191 USPQ 90 (CCPA 1976); In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 16 USPQ2d 1934 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Regarding claim 2, Thompson Jr. teaches that the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical (Thompson Jr., column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24). It should be noted that Thompson Jr. teaches the benefits of applying fire retardant chemical to the resulting material when additional penetration of the liquid fire retardant chemical is needed. Therefore, the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical.

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulating material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the synthetic fibers are provided with fire-retarding chemical, as the prior art suggests that additional fire resistance may be imparted to the fibers constituting the insulating material by adding liquid fire retardant chemical to the insulating material, and motivated by the desire of forming a conventional insulating material having the desired fire resistance suitable for the intended application, as providing the synthetic fibers with fire retardant chemical additionally predictably increases the fire resistance of the resulting insulating material.

Regarding claim 3, Thompson Jr. teaches that the cellulose fibers are saturated with the fire-retarding chemical (Thompson Jr., column 9 line 63 to column 10 line 11, column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24).

Regarding claims 4 and 13, Thompson Jr. does not appear to teach that the content of the fire-retarding chemical is between 1 and 30% of the total fiber material composition and that the fire-retarding chemical comprises at least one of Borax, Boric acid, Ammonium sulphate and aluminum sulphate mixed with the synthetic fibers. However, Thompson Jr. teaches that any suitable fire retardant chemical can be applied, for example, a boron composition (Thompson Jr., column 8 line 37 to column 9 line 6). Since Thompson Jr. is silent as to the specific fire retarding chemical and the amount of chemical that is applied, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional fire retardant chemicals and amounts.

Frenette provides this conventional teaching, showing that it was known in the insulation material art to form an insulating material comprising cellulosic fibers and synthetic fibers, wherein a fire retardant chemical such as borax, boric acid, ammonium sulphate or aluminum sulfate is typically added at 10 to 30% (Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulation art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., with the fire retardant chemical and in the amounts, as taught by Frenette, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with fire retardant chemicals and in amounts known in the insulation art to be predictably suitable in forming fire retardant fiber insulation materials.

Regarding claim 5, Nielsen teaches that the cellulose fibers having a length between about 3.175 mm to about 6.35 mm (Nielsen, column 3 lines 54-59).

Regarding claim 7, a fiber board material is not positively claimed, as the claimed invention is directed to a fiber insulation material, and the claimed fiber insulation material is not required to have the claimed grammar weight. The claim only appears to require that when the fiber insulation is used to manufacture of a fiberboard material, the grammar weight will comprise the claimed grammar weight. Therefore, the claimed limitation is interpreted as an intended use limitation. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. Since the prior art combination teaches a substantially similar structure and composition (a fiber insulation material comprising the claimed cellulose fibers, crimped fibers and bicomponent fibers, each of the fibers having the claimed lengths and each of the fibers present in the claimed amounts) as the claimed invention, the prior art combination appears capable of performing the claimed use.

Art Unit: 1786

Alternatively, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., wherein the springy polyester fibers are the synthetic polyester helically shaped crimped fibers, as taught by Hauser, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with synthetic polyester fibers known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably improve the resiliency, loft and compression resistance of the fiber insulation material.

Regarding claim 11, Nielsen teaches that the bicomponent fibers have a length of about 1 mm to about 75 mm (Nielsen, column 5 lines 48-53). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulating material art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., further varying the bicomponent fiber lengths such that the fiber lengths are approximately 3 mm, as it is within the level of ordinary skill to determine a suitable fiber length based on the desired fiber process used and the desired level of bonding and structural integrity suitable for the intended application.

Regarding claim 13, the prior art combination teaches that the fire-retarding chemical comprises borax, boric acid, ammonium sulphate or aluminum sulfate mixed with the synthetic fibers (Thompson Jr., column 13 line 63 to column 14 line 23, column 15 lines 30-67, column 22 line 45 to column 23 line 24; Frenette, column 1 lines 7-12, column 2 lines 3-32, column 3 line 4 to column 4 line 6).

7. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thompson Jr. in view of Frenette and Hauser, as applied to claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 above, and further in view of USPN 5,858,530 to McCullough.

Art Unit: 1786

Regarding claim 8, the prior art combination does not appear to teach that the synthetic fibers are hollow. Since the prior art combination is silent as to the exact structure of the synthetic fibers, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional synthetic fiber structures in the fiber insulation material art.

McCullough provides this conventional teaching showing that it was known in the fiber insulation art to form a fiber insulation material comprising synthetic fibers and natural fibers, wherein the synthetic fibers are crimped and/or hollow (McCullough, column 1 lines 8-36, column 9 lines 19-43, column 19 lines 20-30, column 23 lines 1-35).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art to form the insulating material of the prior art combination, wherein the synthetic fibers are hollow, as taught by McCullough, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with hollow fibers which were known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably result in flexible fibers which are cheaper without sacrificing performance.

8. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thompson Jr. in view of Nielsen and Hauser, as applied to claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 above, and further in view of USPN 5,858,530 to McCullough.

Regarding claim 8, the prior art combination does not appear to teach that the synthetic fibers are hollow. Since the prior art combination is silent as to the exact structure of the synthetic fibers, it would have been necessary and therefore obvious to look to the prior art for conventional synthetic fiber structures in the fiber insulation material art.

Art Unit: 1786

McCullough provides this conventional teaching showing that it was known in the fiber insulation art to form a fiber insulation material comprising synthetic fibers and natural fibers, wherein the synthetic fibers are crimped and/or hollow (McCullough, column 1 lines 8-36, column 9 lines 19-43, column 19 lines 20-30, column 23 lines 1-35).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the fiber insulation material art to form the insulating material of the prior art combination, wherein the synthetic fibers are hollow, as taught by McCullough, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with hollow fibers which were known in the fiber insulation material art to predictably result in flexible fibers which are cheaper without sacrificing performance.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments filed August 16, 2010, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that it would be mathematically impossible for bi-component fibers having a length longer than 4 to exhibit an average length of approximately 3 mm. Examiner respectfully disagrees. As set forth above, it is unclear what the scope of "approximately" necessarily entails, as the limitation is qualitative and subjective without further guidance in Applicant's specification as to the scope of the limitation. Therefore, it is unclear how Applicant concludes that lengths taught by the prior art, such as Frenette, are necessarily not within the scope of "approximately," as such a conclusion requires that the scope of the "approximately" is definite.

Frenette teaches that it was known in the insulation material art to form an insulating material comprising cellulosic fibers and synthetic bicomponent fibers, wherein the cellulosic fibers have a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm and the bicomponent fibers have a length longer than 4 mm. The lower range of “longer than 4 mm” clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the insulation art at the time the invention was made to form the insulating material of Thompson Jr., with the cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths, such as about 1 to 4 mm and longer than about 4 mm, as taught by Frenette, motivated by the desire of forming a conventional fiber insulation material with bicomponent fiber lengths and a material weight known in the insulation art to be predictably suitable in forming fire retardant fiber insulation materials.

Additionally, it is Examiner's position that “longer than 4 mm” clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm, which, absent to the contrary, appear to be within the scope of the claimed invention. The burden is on Applicant to set forth where in Applicant's specification lengths “longer than 4 mm” is clearly contemplated as not commensurate in scope with the claimed invention, as it would have been obvious to form bicomponent fibers having a length such as about 4 mm, based on the desired strength of the composition and the desired level of bonding, as shorter bicomponent fibers would predictably result in more bond points between the fibers.

Applicant argues that a complete and fair reading of Frenette would not lead one of ordinary skill to seek to use bi-component fibers having an average length of approximately 3 mm, since such a modification would render Frenette unsatisfactory for its intended purpose. Examiner respectfully disagrees. It should be noted that Frenette is used in the rejection as a secondary reference to teach cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths known in the art in insulating materials.

As set forth above, Frenette teaches that the cellulosic fibers have a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm and the bicomponent fibers have a length longer than 4 mm. Since the scope of “approximately” is unclear, and since a length longer than 4 mm clearly includes lengths greater than but not including 4 mm, the lower range of the bicomponent fiber length appears to be within the scope of the claimed invention, absent evidence to the contrary.

Additionally, the lengths relied on by Examiner do not appear to render Frenette unsatisfactory for its intended purpose, as Frenette is only relied to teach cellulose and bicomponent fiber lengths known in the art in insulating materials, and Applicant does not provide evidence that the invention of Thompson Jr. would be rendered unsatisfactory for its intended purpose, based on the teachings of Frenette.

Applicant argues that if Frenette was modified to include sufficient fibers having a length of 3 mm or shorter in order to obtain an average length of approximately 3 mm as claimed, then the synthetic fibers would necessarily not have a longer than the short (1-4 mm) cellulosic fibers. Examiner respectfully disagrees. It should be noted that Frenette is not relied on to teach an average length of shorter than 3 mm. Therefore, Applicant’s argument is not commensurate in scope with the current rejection.

Additionally, the use of patents as references is not limited to what the patentees describe as their own inventions or to the problems with which they are concerned. They are part of the literature of the art, relevant for all they contain. A reference may be relied upon for all that it would have reasonably suggested to one having ordinary skill the art, including nonpreferred embodiments. MPEP 2123.

In response to Applicant's argument, Examiner is not necessarily relying on Frenette to teach bicomponent fibers having a length of 3 mm, as Examiner relies on Frenette to teach bicomponent fibers having a length of longer than 4 mm, which appears to be within the scope of "approximately 3 mm."

Applicant argues that Applicant has provided objective evidence of nonobviousness attributable to and commensurate in scope with the presently claimed invention. Examiner respectfully disagrees. As set forth above, the scope of "approximately 3 mm" is indefinite and the prior art combination appears to render obvious the claimed invention, absent evidence that the scope of "approximately 3 mm" specifically excludes the fiber lengths disclosed by Frenette.

In response to Applicant's argument that Examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

As set forth above, the scope of "approximately 3 mm" is indefinite and the prior art combination appears to render obvious the claimed invention, absent evidence that the scope of "approximately 3 mm" specifically excludes the fiber lengths disclosed by Frenette.

Independent claim 1 is currently amended for purposes of clarification and without adding new matter. Support for the amendment may be found, for example, in Applicant's original application published as WO 2005/042850 at p. 4, lines 5-12. Applicant respectfully requests reconsideration and prompt allowance of all pending claims, and rejoinder and allowance of the withdrawn claims, in view of the Amendment and the following arguments.

Rejections Under 35 U.S.C. § 103

Claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11 and 13 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as allegedly being obvious and unpatentable over Thompson, Jr. (US 5,642,601) in view of Frenette (US 5,515,580) and Hauser (US 4,118,531). Claim 8 stands rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as allegedly being obvious and unpatentable over Thompson, Jr. (US 5,642,601) in view of Hauser (US 4,118,531) and Frenette (US 5,515,580), as applied to claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 above, and further in view of McCullough (US 5,858,530). Applicant respectfully disagrees with the rejection of the claims as currently amended, for at least the following reasons.

First, Applicant has currently amended independent claim 1, from which claims 2-5 and 7-13 depend, to include a limitation that the bi-component fibers have a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm. The Patent Office relies, for each of the foregoing claim rejections, on Frenette as allegedly teaching "that it was known in the insulation art to form an insulating material comprising cellulosic fibers and synthetic fibers, wherein the cellulose fibers have a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm, the bicomponent fibers have a length longer than 4 mm..."¹ The Patent Office thus admits that Frenette does not disclose Applicant's presently claimed limitation to bi-component fibers have a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm.

Applicant respectfully contends that it would be mathematically impossible for bi-component fibers having a length longer than 4 to exhibit an average length of approximately 3 mm. Notwithstanding the Patent Office's allegation that Applicant's claims would be prima facie obvious "where the claimed ranges of fiber lengths overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art,"² Applicant respectfully contends that Frenette's disclosed bi-component fibers having a length longer than 4 mm do not, indeed cannot satisfy Applicant's claim limitation to bi-component fibers having an average length of approximately 3 mm, even though Applicant's claimed range of bi-component fiber lengths (1-10 mm) overlaps somewhat with the bi-component fiber lengths disclosed by Frenette (longer than 4 mm). Thus, Applicant respectfully submits that Frenette has not been shown to disclose or teach bi-component fibers have a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm, as required by Applicant's independent claim 1 as currently amended.

Furthermore, the Patent Office has not alleged that Thompson, Jr. or Hauser disclose or teach Applicant's presently claimed limitation to bi-component fibers have a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm. If the Patent Office disagrees, then the Patent Office is respectfully invited to identify the relevant disclosure of Thompson, Jr. or Hauser which teaches or discloses this limitation, with proper citation to column and line number. In fact, the Patent Office admits that Thompson, Jr. is silent with respect to fiber length, relying on Frenette for allegedly teaching Applicant's claimed cellulose fiber and bi-component fiber lengths.³ Therefore, Applicant respectfully submits that Thompson, Jr. in view of Frenette and Hauser have not been properly shown to disclose or teach all limitations of Applicant's currently claimed invention as required to maintain a prima facie case of obviousness. For at least this reason, Applicant respectfully submits that the present amendment to independent claim 1 renders moot the rejection of claims 1-5 and 7-13 for alleged obviousness over Thompson, Jr. in view of Frenette and Hauser has been overcome, and should be reconsidered and withdrawn.

³ Id., p. 2, last line through p. 3, first line.

Second, Applicant respectfully contends that a complete and fair reading of Frenette for all that this reference discloses would not lead one of ordinary skill to seek to use bi-component fibers having a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm, at least because such a modification would render Frenette unsatisfactory for its intended purpose. As stated in the MPEP:⁴

[i]f proposed modification would render the prior art invention being modified unsatisfactory for its intended purpose, then there is no suggestion or motivation to make the proposed modification.

Applicant understands Frenette to expressly require that the bi-component fibers be long fibers with a length more than 4 mm in order to effectively achieve bonding with the short cellulosic fibers having a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm used in practicing the Frenette invention:⁵

Abstract

An insulating material is described and comprised of loose fill short cellulose fibers and bonding synthetic fibers. The synthetic fibers are of longer length than the short cellulosic fibers and have an outer sheath which is heat-fused with outer sheaths of other synthetic fibers at crossing contact points thereof to form a matrix having pockets for retaining the loose fill cellulosic fibers therein and throughout the matrix thereby eliminating the need of an adhesive binder to retain the cellulose fibers in the matrix. The matrix can form a body having the shape of a batt of insulation and the batt may be provided with a facing sheet of suitable vapor permeability.

FIGS. 2 and 3 illustrate the fabrication of the insulating material of the present invention which comprises loose fill short cellulosic fibers 11 trapped in a binding matrix formed by longer synthetic fibers 13 which bind together at their crossing contact points such as 14 to form pockets 12 which trap the short cellulosic fibers. The short cellulosic fibers 11 have a length of from about 1 mm to about 4 mm, and a diameter of between 15 to 40 microns. The long bonding synthetic fibers are much longer and have a length which is more than 4 mm and preferably, but not exclusively, longer than 25 mm. These synthetic fibers are of the type that become tacky without losing their shape at a predetermined temperature. FIG. 4 shows a cross section of a bicomponent fiber with a core 17 which has a higher melting point than its outer sheath. The synthetic fibers are mixed with the short cellulosic fibers 11 at a level by weight of 3% to 20% and preferably 5% to 8%, and subjected to a heating process wherein the outer sheath 18, and not the core 17, become tacky, with minimum shrinkage. An example of such fibers would comprise bicomponents thereof which are sold by Hoechst Celanese Corp. under the trade mark CELBOND.

The longer synthetic bonding fibers 13 also have a diameter which is approximately the same as the fiberglass fibers of the prior art, above described. The synthetic fibers 13 may also be of another type than bicomponents provided that they become tacky without losing their shape at a predetermined temperature. An example is vinyl chloride-vinyl acetate copolymer fiber sold under the trade name WACKER MP FASER. It is therefore important that during the bonding process, to fabricate the insulating material of the present invention, that the mixture of the synthetic fibers and cellulose fibers be subjected to a predetermined temperature whereby the strength and length of the synthetic fibers is not effected but only sufficient to soften the polyester sheathing 18 to cause it to soften and bond at crossing contact points to form a matrix body of interconnected synthetic fibers which forms pockets to trap the loose short cellulosic fibers and thereby retain them in a body or batt having a specific shape.

Thus, if the long bonding synthetic (bi-component) fibers having a length longer than 4 mm as taught by Frenette were modified to include sufficient fibers having a length of 3 mm or shorter in order to obtain an average length of approximately 3 mm as Applicant claims, then the synthetic fibers would necessarily not have a longer length than the short (1-4 mm) cellulosic fibers, as expressly required by the Frenette disclosure as cited above.

Furthermore, Frenette would no longer operate as intended to achieve effective bonding of long (> 4 mm) synthetic fibers to short cellulosic fibers having a length from about 1 mm to about 4 mm, without the synthetic fibers losing their shape. However, Frenette expressly requires that the synthetic fibers maintain their shape in order to form "a matrix body of interconnected synthetic fibers which forms pockets to trap the loose short cellulosic fibers and thereby retain them in a body or batt having a specific shape."⁶ Thus, Applicant respectfully submits that the alleged prima facie case of obviousness has been overcome by the current amendment to independent claim 1, from which claims 2-5 and 7-12 depend, adding a limitation that the bi-component fibers having a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm.

Third, Applicant respectfully contends that it has provided objective evidence of nonobviousness attributable to and commensurate in scope with the presently claimed invention, sufficient to rebut any alleged prima facie case of obviousness. According to MPEP § 2145, rebuttal evidence and arguments can be presented in the specification, by counsel, or by way of an affidavit or declaration under 37 CFR 1.132. Applicant has provided clear evidence in its originally-filed specification of the unexpected and advantageous effects which result by using bi-component fibers have a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm, in combination with cellulose fibers having a length between about 0.5 to 10 mm, and crimped synthetic fiber having a length between 12 to 75 mm:⁷

By using three different primary fibre components, a cellulose insulation composition/fibre product according to the invention, which is inexpensive in manufacture is achieved and still containing very good insulation characteristics. It is realised that the expensive bi-component fibre content may be reduced, due to the use of shorter fibres, and the overall weight of the end product relative to the use of raw materials is reduced. This separate portion of synthetic fibres makes the fibre material board resilient. Supporting tearing strength is also achieved by using crimped synthetic fibres.

In the preferred embodiment, the cellulose fibres have a length between 1 to 10 mm and the bi-component fibres have a length between 1 to 10 mm, preferably with an average length of approx. 3 mm. By using short bi-component fibres, it is possible to ensure a thorough opening/separation of the expensive bi-component fibres and a very homogeneous distribution in the forming process. Furthermore, the advantage of using short bi-component fibres is that they provide more “fibre ends” or contact points resulting in a more consistent end product and allowing for a reduction in the use of bi-component fibres.

Thus, in exemplary preferred embodiments using Applicant's claimed fiber combination, a cellulose insulation composition may be obtained that is inexpensive because less of the expensive bi-component fiber is used when shorter bi-component fibers are used. Furthermore, the overall weight of the end product may also be reduced and the tearing strength improved, while still maintaining very good insulation characteristics. Additionally, use of short bi-component fibers ensures a more thorough fiber opening and separation and a more homogenous fiber distribution, while also achieving more "fiber ends" or contact points useful in bonding.

Applicant respectfully contends that the present inventors recognized several deficiencies in the art pertaining to low cost cellulose insulation, and, having identified the nature of the problems to be solved, developed a nonobvious approach to solving those problems that had not previously been tried. "[A] patentable invention may lie in the discovery of the source of a problem even though the remedy may be obvious once the source of the problem is identified. This is part of the 'subject matter as a whole' which should always be considered in determining the obviousness of an invention under 35 U.S.C. § 103." In re Spinnoble, 405 F.2d 578, 585, 160 USPQ 237, 243 (CCPA 1969). It is further emphasized that the inventors' recognition of this problem, as clearly delineated in the specification as referenced above, is especially relevant. That is, in accordance with MPEP 2141.02(IV), Applicants who allege they discovered the source of a problem must provide evidence substantiating the allegation, either by way of affidavits or declarations, or by way of a clear and persuasive assertion in the specification.⁸

Lastly, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit has held that the non-obvious analysis must be conducted viewing the invention as a whole.⁹ When applying 35 U.S.C. 103, the references must also be considered as a whole, and must suggest the desirability and thus the obviousness of making the combination to a skilled artisan, sufficient for one of ordinary skill in the art to have a reasonable expectation of success in obtaining Applicant's claimed invention.¹⁰

Applicant respectfully contends that the Patent Office has provided no rational reason or basis for one of ordinary skill in the art to recognize the desirability of combining the three (or four) cited references in the manner suggested by the Patent Office, with a reasonable likelihood of success in obtaining Applicant's presently claimed invention. Frenette expressly teaches away from using synthetic fibers (i.e. bi-component fibers) having a shorter length than the short (1-4 mm) cellulosic fibers, as would be required in order for a skilled artisan to even attempt to satisfy Applicant's claim limitation to bi-component fibers having a length between 1 to 10 mm and an average length of approximately 3 mm. Thus, Applicant respectfully submits that the Patent Office's combination of references could only result from the improper application of hindsight analysis, using Applicant's own specification as a road map to pick and choose among isolated disclosures in order to obtain Applicant's claimed invention.

Using "hindsight reconstruction to pick and choose among isolated disclosures in the prior art to deprecate the claimed invention" or conducting a "reference-by-reference, limitation-by-limitation analysis" fails to demonstrate how the invention is obvious in light of the prior art.¹¹ Similarly, the Patent Office may not use Applicant's disclosed invention as a blueprint for linking together pieces of prior art in order to find the invention obvious.¹² The Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit has referred to using the invention as a "blueprint for piecing together the prior art . . . [as] the essence of hindsight."¹³

In summary, Applicant respectfully submits that the Patent Office has at least failed to properly provide a combination of prior art references that teaches or suggests all limitations of Applicant's claimed invention. Furthermore, Applicant respectfully submits that it has provided clear evidence found within the cited references sufficient to rebut the alleged prima facie case of obviousness¹⁴, by clearly establishing that one of ordinary skill in the art would not be properly motivated to modify the express teachings of Frenette with a reasonable likelihood of ¹¹ Ecolochem, Inc. v. S. Cal. Edison Co., 227 F.3d 1361, 1371 (Fed. Cir. 2000) (quoting In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 1075 (1988)).

Cir. 1985) ("It is impermissible to first ascertain factually what [the inventor] did and then view the prior art in such a manner as to select from the random facts of that art only those which may be modified and then utilized to reconstruct [the] invention from such prior art.").

¹³ In re Dembiczak, 175 F.3d 994, 999 (Fed. Cir. 1999).

success in obtaining Applicant's presently claimed invention. Additionally, Applicant has presented objective evidence of the unexpected results and advantages obtained from Applicant's claimed invention. Lastly, because Frenette teaches away from Applicant's claimed invention, Applicant respectfully submits that a skilled artisan, combining the teachings of Thompson, Jr. in view of Frenette and Hauser and further in view of McCullough, when the references are viewed as a whole for all that they disclose, would not have a reasonable likelihood of success in obtaining Applicant's claimed invention. For at least these reasons, the combinations of references do not make obvious Applicant's independent claim 1.

In addition to the foregoing arguments, Applicant(s) submit that a dependent claim should be considered allowable when its parent claim is allowed.¹⁵ Accordingly, provided independent claim 1 is allowed, all claims depending therefrom should also be allowed. Thus, the rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) of claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11 and 13 as allegedly being obvious and unpatentable over Thompson, Jr. in view of Frenette and Hauser; and of claim 8 as allegedly being obvious and unpatentable over Thompson, Jr. in view of Hauser and Frenette, as applied to claims 1-5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 above, and further in view of McCullough, has been overcome and should be withdrawn.

Request for Rejoinder

Withdrawn claims 10 and 12 depend from independent claim 1 and incorporate all the claim features of currently amended patentable independent claim 1. Accordingly, it is submitted that withdrawn claims 10 and 12 are likewise patentable. Therefore, Applicant respectfully requests reconsideration, rejoinder and allowance of claims 10 and 12 under CFR § 1.104.

CONCLUSION

Reconsideration and withdrawal of the rejections of currently pending claims 1-5 and 7-13 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as allegedly being obvious and unpatentable over the cited combinations of references is respectfully requested. Applicant also respectfully requests rejoinder, reconsideration and prompt allowance of withdrawn claims 10 and 12, in light of the foregoing arguments.

Based on the foregoing, it is submitted that the application is in condition for allowance. Allowance of all presently pending claims at an early date is solicited. In the event that the Examiner disagrees, Applicant respectfully requests a telephone interview to more fully understand the Examiner's position and advance this case to issuance under the Patent Office's policy of Compact Prosecution. The Examiner is respectfully requested to contact Applicant's representative at the number below.
